With a good start I could follow the leading group in the first lap. Then the French guy Mouray increased the speed that I couldn't follow anymore. From now on till the end the distance to the group in front of me who fought for the 3. place was more or less the same. The feeling in my legs was ok but to stay in the front group i have to improve. With the 8. place I was more or less happy for my debut.

On New Year's Eve is my next race in Beromünster.
