There is a long climb on the course in Windham which is sometimes interrupted by some flat sections in the wood. If you have been at the top of the climb, a long descend takes you to the bottom. The difficult thing is that there are everywhere flat stones with sharp edges which are dangerous for flat tires.

Six laps long was the race. The temperatures have been again really high which don't suit me so much. But in the days before I felt great and so I was ready to go fast.

The first lap I finished in a good position but not in the best. I tried not to go over the limit to save some energy for later. The legs never felt really good but I stayed motivated. Unfortunately I hit a stone really hard in the 3rd lap and I immediately lost air in the front wheel. Now I had to do the whole downhill till the tech zone at the bottom like this. I lost lots of time and places till I could change my front wheel. In the following laps I could move a little bit forward but on 41. place it was finish.

I was really disappointed about my mistake I did and the lost chance to do a good result.

In the standings I lost some places and I slipped back to 19th.
